Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's amendment and remarks of November 23, 2007 have been entered.
2. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
3. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. Claims 1-14, 16, and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Paul in view of Fischel-Ghodsian.

Paul discloses a dispenser for controlled release of volatile substances comprising a reservoir covered on its top face and on its bottom face by control elements 50 and 55 that exert a control function that is dependent on the physical properties of the fragrance and the material properties of the control elements in which the elements 50 and 55 are bonded together, and a second control element 22 and 23 as recited. Paul does not disclose the second control element being a film as recited. Fischel-Ghodsian teaches a dispenser for controlled release of volatile substances comprising a reservoir 22, a first control element 24, and a second control element 28 in the form of a thin permeable film. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the device of Paul by replacing the second control element with a film having gaps as taught by Fischel-Ghodsian to transmit scent. The number of gaps as recited would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. The thickness and shapes as recited in claims 11 and 12 would have been matters of design choice since such a modification involves a mere change in the size or shape of a component which is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. Regarding claims 13 and 14, it has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
